

WASTE MANAGEMENT AND OCEAN CONSERVATION AWARENESS

On June 10th 2023, Saturday, ISR committee in association with BHOOMI NGO conducted an online webinar through google meet from 11am to 12pm

The topic of the program was WASTE MANAGEMENT AND OCEAN CONSERVATION AWARENESS. session was conducted to celebrate WORLD'S OCEAN DAY.

In this webinar several participants all over INDIA had joined to name some, from Tamil Naidu, Telangana, Kerala, Karnataka and from many other places. 100+ participants were there in the google meet, the Session started with the introduction of YAMINI AND JAYATI, the members of the Bhoomi NGO, they gave a brief description about how and why the webinar is conducted. The problems and the causes were discussed of how the oceans are getting polluted and it is to affect us, a detailed discussion on this topic was done. Throughout the webinar, the problems and the causes of ocean pollution, its effect on the environment

In the session, they also discussed about how the usage of plastic is creating the different pollutions like, air pollution, water pollution, land pollution. They focused on the impact of animals because of pollution, mainly they focused on the aquatic animals, has it had a lot of effects for humans as well as even for the economy. In this session, they gave us a clear clarity of how pollution is affecting humans' health as well as the economic growth.

A beautiful quote was said during the webinar,

"Every small action is interlinked which led to great impact both positively and negatively."

This quote had a deeper meaning related to the webinar. They came up with a lot of solutions to overcome this economic issue, that is POLLUTION. Solutions like, roads to sustainability, ways to transform a circular economy, working hand to hand for change, etc

The session ended with a lot of questions raised and with a lot of knowledge gained by many of them. It was a very useful webinar conducted where everyone had a active participation was taken and everyone found it useful.
